A KNOTTY PROBLEM

County Commissioners Confronted With Question of Paying Off Back Claims.

Those who had bills against Pontotoc county prior to July 1 find themselves up against it good and proper. Heretofore when the tax levy was made the commissioners could issue warrants covering this back indebtedness, but under the new law and the ruling of the attorney general, they can no longer do this. Indebtedness of this character has accumulated to the amount of about $18,000. On the other hand, there is due in uncollected taxes something over $30,000. Commissioner Richardson states it is about $36,000, but a good share of this is against Indian lands and is in court. The O. C. railroad also comes in for several thousand dollars, of course if this could be collected the county would be in fine shape, but there is not the least indication that it will be paid any time soon.

As matters stand now, no levy can be made to take up this back indebtedness, except in instances where the county is sued and judgment obtained. Even then the payments are divided in three annual installments.

About the only way out of the difficulty seems to be for the commissioners to confess judgment and issue funding bonds. This they are willing enough to do when the manner of carrying it out can be determined. At all events the situation is a most unpleasant one, both for the commissioners and claimants. The commissioners have been worrying over it for the past two or three months, but the matter is still in the air.

Not only is the county in this predicament, but many school districts as well. Teachers are due a large sum for services rendered last year, and now find themselves up against it when it comes to collecting what they worked for and are entitled to.

SENATE PASSES BILL FOR INDIAN PAYMENTS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 8.—The democratic majority in the house of representatives has again demonstrated to the country that it is fully capable of handling the affairs of the government. They have just passed a tariff bill which is extortionately high. The revised bill cuts almost in half the tariff on cotton goods, and would save the consuming public millions of dollars each year. Of course it yet has to pass the senate, and receive the approval of the president, which is extremely doubtful. The president has already expressed his intention of vetoing the tariff measure which is sent to him. This will of course force the people of the United States to pay these high tariffs, and will allow the cotton mills to reap another golden harvest of from twenty to fifty per cent profit from the consuming public.

cured passage of an act by the senate providing for the payment of a prorata share of the funds held in the treasury to the credit of the Cherokee, Chickasaw, Choctaw, Creek and Seminole Tribes of Indians. The prospects are good for its final passage which would indeed afford relief to members of these tribes on account of the drouth which Oklahoma has experienced this summer. The following tables show their respective funds, etc., and may be interesting:

Wool Tariff Bill Passed Senate.

The democratic wool tariff bill passed the senate some days since. This bill is a marked reduction from the present law, which the president has state dis indefensible. Take for instance, the duty on cheap blankets, the tariff is one 125 per cent. A blanket coming into this country valued at one dollar, would cost $1.25 to get it into the United States and the result would be that the consum-

PROCEEDINGS OF THE CITY COUNCIL

The council held its usual weekly meeting last evening, and allowed the usual accounts against the city. It then gave a hearing to a number of dray and deliverymen in regard to making the annual occupation tax on transfer wagons of any kind $25. The ones who spoke favored this in order that some who are in the habit of running a wagon as a sort of side line during a short period of the year may be kept from competing with those who follow this as a regular business. No definite action was taken on the matter however.

A general warfare was declared on the weeds that mar the appearance of the city, and on motion by Ellison and second by Ratliff, weeds in the streets and alleys were ordered cut at once.

The pipe line came up for discussion again, objection being made to the manner in which its being laid in some places, and it was directed that the wood pipe be lowered below the depth at which it was first put in.

City Attorney Webb read a section of law applying to public libraries, showing that cities of 5,000 or more inhabitants may levy a tax for the support of such institution without submitting it to the people. In fact, he could find no law for submitting it to a vote. That probably disposes of the question until the city directory being issued by the News is published. It will probably show a population of 5,000 and then the matter will be up to the council.

er would pay $1.25 more for this dollar blanket than he should. The American manufacturer just raises the price on his dollar blanket two dollars and fifty cents covering the tariff, the consumer pays him the tariff, and the government gets no benefit.

KNOX REVIVAL COMES TO CLOSE

The Baptist church of Knox for eight days engaged in special evangelistic services. The meeting was planned and conducted with special reference to building up the spiritual life of the church and neighborhood. It was felt that a meeting that would bind the members closer to each other and to the work of the church as well as tie them more firmly to the great head of the church was the character of the meeting to pray and work for. The Lord did not disappoint us for eight came into the church by baptism and seven by letter. Total fifteen additions. Every service was constructive and spiritual and I am sure will help for months to come in the work of the kingdom, both in the church and the neighborhood. No wiser choice could have been made to do the preaching than Rev. Gus Hendrix of Ada.

We found Bro. Hendrix to be a man of God, full of zeal and religion and a hard worker willing to sacrifice for his Master's kingdom and the salvation of a lost world.

ANDY CHAPMAN BUYS SHOE STORE

The S. E. Chapman stock of shoes was sold at public auction this afternoon and bought by Andy Chapman for $2,500. This sale also embraced the accounts due the business.

There was considerable competition in the bidding, but that of Mr. Chapman was the best.

He will open for business as soon as the sale is confirmed by the federal court, which will be in a few days. His clerk will be S. E. Chapman. Both are all round good fellows and the News hopes they will enjoy a good patronage from the very first.

M. V. Bishop was in from near Tynola this afternoon. He reports some damage being done by boll worms, but thinks a few more hot days will put an end to their depredations.

A BUMPER COTTON CROP IN PROSPECT

Oklahoma City, Aug. 8.—No rain has fallen in Oklahoma for the past forty-eight hours according to the weather bulletin issued by the Western Union Telegraph company at noon Monday. Fair and cool weather with southerly winds prevails over the state. Many people in Oklahoma City who are interested in crop conditions over the state are of the opinion that the rainy weather is now at an end, and that for the rest of the season, dry weather will be had.

Cotton men are jubilant over this prospect, asserting that with dry weather for the rest of the summer and fall, Oklahoma will produce the largest cotton crop in its history. Forage crops are in good condition over the entire state. While it is said that the corn crop is only short in some sections of Southern Oklahoma, and that in Northern and Eastern Oklahoma a full crop will be produced.

"While it is a bit early yet to make prophecies, yet I believe that the crop conditions this fall will equal our most sanguine expectations at the beginning of the year," said H. C. Conley of the Frisco railway after receiving reports from many portions from many sections of the state. "Shippers generally are very hopeful and railroad agents all over the state anticipate a heavy fall business in all lines. With no untoward conditions in the way of too much rain during the latter part of this month, Oklahoma will have the bumper cotton crop in its history."

It is also pointed out that it is an invariable condition in this state for no rains to fall during the latter part of August and early September, and this precedent leads cotton dealers to believe that the crop will not be hampered this year by heavy rains.

Crawford Opposes Special Session

Representative Jno. P. Crawford states that he is opposed to a special session of the legislature on the grounds of the great cost of a session and difficulty that would be experienced in reaching an agreement in the matter of congressional districts, even if the legislature were convened. Senator Roddie states that he has nothing to give out for publication yet, but may have in a few days.

A. L. Cochran, representing the Witherspoon Commission Co., of Oklahoma City, was in town this morning. He was at one time a resident of Wynnewood.

RETAILERS WILL FIGHT TAX RAISE

The Retailers held a meeting last evening and pledged the support of the organization to the state body in its fight against the raising of the value of merchandise by the state board of equalization. They are convinced that the board made it very unequal instead of equal, and will fight the matter to the last ditch. A call will be issued for a general mass meeting to be held Tuesday evening at which time the tax payers of all classes will be heard.

Attorney Roland and the court clashed, resulting in a fine of $25 being assessed against Mr. Roland.

WOMAN OFFICER LEADS THE RAIDS

Shawnee, Ok., Aug. 8.—Saturday night was a hard night on resorts in Shawnee.

Raids, headed by Mrs. Addie Caldwell, were planned Saturday night an executed by the sheriff and deputies under the direction of Mrs. Caldwell, resulted in many people being arrested charged with various offenses and many other places being searched for liquor and other lawlessness.

Five women were arrested and taken to the county jail at Tecumseh this morning. A woman giving the name of Mrs. Grathouse was arrested as the proprietor of an immoral house at the Alamo rooming house on East Main street. In the same house, Frankie Cox, Pearl White, Belle Norman and Mattie Williams were arrested, charged with being inmates. In the county court this morning Pearl White pleaded guilty to the charge placed against her and was fined $25 and costs by the county judge and sent to jail for failure to pay her fine. Mrs. Grathouse gave $500 bond for her appearance in court for trial and the balance of the women were held under $250 bond.

Mrs. Caldwell was recently appointed state deputy enforcement officer by Governor Cruce. Since her appointment, several weeks ago, Mrs. Caldwell has been planning her raids. She has been laying the wires for the lawless, but the time had not sufficiently ripened until last night.

Mrs. Caldwell said today: "Since my appointment it has been my desire to clean the city of immoral places. I have been making the plans for the raids which were made Saturday night for several days. Saturday night I called the county attorney, the sheriff and the deputy sheriff, telling them I was ready to raid. They assisted me. We raided places until 1 o'clock Sunday morning."

Many places were searched by the officers which heretofore have been under suspicion for selling liquor, but not much intoxicants were found Saturday night.

Mrs. Caldwell was appointed by the governor to look after rooming houses. She is probably the only woman in the United States who has authority to go after liquid goods like the late Carrie Nation.

Rainfall for July.

During July the average rainfall for Oklahoma was 5.64 inches. The largest amount is 10.65, reported from Fairland, Ottawa county. The smallest is 1.8, reported from the Sac and Fox agency. At Ada it was a little above the average, the figures being 6.89.

A representative of the News saw Sheriff Mitchell and County Attorney Wimbish hastily board the southbound train this morning, having in charge a man supposed to be Frank Edwards, held for the murder of Wm. Gray. However, it has been impossible to find out where they were going with him.

Z. B. Sanders has been telling various county officers that their prospective opponents of next year, were busy at Roff yesterday treating the boys on watermelons, and advising them to go and do likewise. A splendid suggestion, and the News man hopes to be around when that part of the campaign comes off.

OSLER RIGHT; YOUTH SUCCEEDS AGE

Gray Hair Is First Sign of Age. Harmless Remedy Restores to Natural Color.

Osler isn't the only man who turns down old age. In the business world the "young man" is always the one who picks the plums. It is an age of "new thought," "new talent," etc., and the old man is passed by in the race.

One of the first signs of coming age is the appearance of gray hairs. When you see them, act promptly. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy will correct this sign, which so often deceives people into thinking that age is really upon them. It is a well-known fact that Sage and Sulphur will darken the hair. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur combines these old-time remedies with other agents, which remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

The manufacturers of this remedy authorize the druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

If the liquor people imagine that Oklahoma has not had a surfeit of elections, and especially an attempt to repeal prohibition, then they do not know the tenor of the voters. The worst feature of the initiative and referendum is that it keeps the state in turmoil. The voters of this city must not conclude that the local sentiment in anyway reflects the sentiment of the entire state. They may as well recognize, too, that Oklahoma is not going to repeal prohibition. What we need to do is quit talking about repealing this law and devote ourselves to its enforcement.

Letter From C. W. Graves.
Martinsburg, W. Va., Aug. 3, 1911.
Editor News:

Sometime since I left Ada for the East on a visit to the home of my boyhood. Many changes have taken place here since I took my departure for the West. My visit to my people was a joyful occasion. It is grand to meet old friends after a lapse of years.

I left Ada, May 28, and came via Dayton, Ohio, spending a few days there with relatives. I reached my sister's home at Martinsburg, June 4. From the Oklahoma line all the way through it was dry, crops very short corn just planted. Crops are short here, corn suffering for rain. It may make half a crop. Potatoes a failure. Farmers will not make seed. No oats. Farmers are getting the blues. Ground has no moisture, dry to the depth of three feet. About half a crop of hay. So hot and dry in May it almost killed the grass. Hay selling at $30 a ton. Gardens all burned up. Crops in Maryland are just the same as in West Virginia. From this you will see that it can be dry back here as well as in the West.

I have many questions asked me about Oklahoma, and I never lose an opportunity to boost for the state. I am going to Pennsylvania in a day or two. I see through the News that you have had a timely rain.

With best wishes,
Your friend,
C. W. GRAVES.

VICE PRESIDENT IS OPPOSED TO RECIPROCITY

Washington, Aug. 8.—Unless Senator La Follette and Chairman Underwood of the Ways and Means Committee, who have been appointed a subcommittee on the wool conference can come much nearer together than they were at the end of their meeting today, they will have to report to the full conference committee tomorrow a disagreement.

House Leaders vs. Insurgents.

In the matter of the free list bill this same subcommittee reports such progress as to indicate that a free list bill that will be able to meet the approval of both houses will come out of conference at an early date. But with the wool bill it is different. There is talk that the difference is irreconcilable, and both house and insurgent leaders have inspired statements that are designed to bring public pressure to bear upon the other side to yield. The insurgents are saying that the house leaders are taking the attitude of demanding the Underwood bill or nothing, while the house leaders are saying that the insurgents will not agree to scale of duties so low as to obviate the danger of the tariff board recommending rates below those proposed by Senator La Follette.

It seems certain that congress will be in session another eight or ten days, so that both sides will have time to carry on their game of bluff for several days, with a compromise agreement in the end.

The situation appears to be shaping satisfactorily in the senate for the passage perhaps next week of the cotton bill with such amendments as the insurgents may force upon the senate democrats.

The insurgents assert that steel and iron revision and important sugar amendments will be put on the cotton bill in the senate. In connection with the general tariff situation, democrats in congress today read full vindication their almost united course in supporting Canadian reciprocity in the letter which Vice President Sherman has written to Wilber F. Wake-man of the American Protective Tariff League. This letter is an indorsement by the vice president of an editorial bitterly assailing the Canadian reciprocity act. The reciprocity movement is regarded by the high protectionists of the republican party as the dangerous trend within the party away from the protective tariff, or as the democrats have put it, a breaking down of the tariff wall. Vice President Sherman is a high priest in the protection wing of the republican party.

SOCIALISTS OPPOSED TO BOY SCOUTS MOVEMENT

Baltimore, Aug. 8.—The Maryland branch of the socialist party is about to launch a campaign against the existence of boy scouts, which it condemns as an organization that will prove harmful to the laboring classes.

Two reasons are set forth for this action: One is that the organization is imported from Europe and the other that the knowledge of warfare the boys learn from the drills would make it possible for them to interfere with the workmen on a strike.

An ordinary case of diarrhoea can as a rule be cured by a single dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This remedy has no superior for bowel complaints. For sale by all dealers.

A GREAT SCHEME NIPPED IN THE BUD

The Geeville Trumpet Blast of Freedom Stands Pat.

By-Product of Pork Fails Utterly as a Weather Prognosticator.

By ED MOTT.

Cold weather had come on quite early that fall, and I was writing a hurry call for stove wood on subscription to the Trumpet Blast of Freedom, to go in the paper that week, when one of the fattest men I ever saw came into the office. He was in his shirt sleeves, and wore a broad-brimmed straw hat. Without noticing my surprise, and before I had time to recover from it, he came up close, and in a mysterious undertone said:

"Am I correct in assuming that you are the editor?"

I told him he was.

"And publisher?"

"Yes," I said. "And publisher."

Business manager went along with it, I assured him. He then said:

"Then we can come to business. I see by scanning the columns of your estimable paper that you are not running any clothing store advertisements. The local tailor shops seem to ignore you. The patronage of the outfitters of men as to garb doesn't show up a bit in your paper, which I see you furnish at the ridiculously low price of one dollar a year, in advance; one fifty if paid at the end of the year. Worth three times the money. I say I see the shops that make clothing their business don't seem to have discovered you."

There was only one tailor and one ready-made clothing store in Geeville, and it was true that neither of them had taken advantage of the Trumpet Blast's columns to boom their trade, in which particular, however, they were in no way unique among the tradesmen of Geeville.

"No," said I, smiling at the protest against this delinquency of the clothing men that seemed to lie in the mysterious stranger's manner, "they haven't come in yet."

"Well," said he, with no little positiveness, "we'll bring 'em in! Just listen to me and act, and we'll have the tailors and the clothing store men tumbling over each other to get here first with their ads. I've got a cinch on 'em that is yours if you'll listen and act. I've killed it and it's all right."

This startled me some, and I looked up quick. The man didn't look crazy, but I thought he certainly must be. "Ah," said the man, showing satisfaction. "Few do know the pig's milt as a weather prophet. There's where this cinch of mine is. That's what's going to make the tailors and the clothiers come across to you if you'll listen to me and act. Yes. Weather propheting. That's about all there really is to the pig's milt. I have known it intimately for forty years, and that's all the use I've ever discovered that it had. If you think there is any other use the pig's milt puts itself to, see the dictionary. Look it up."

The man seemed so eager that I should know, and I wanted to keep on the right side of him so much until help of some kind might come in, that I turned to the dictionary and the "milt." The principal duty of milt, according to the dictionary, I found to be this:

"But you needn't see melt," said the man, nodding his head as I read from the dictionary. "If you see melt it will merely advise you to 'see milt.' Having seen milt, you will of course serve no purpose by calling on it again, and you have learned all there is to learn in the dictionary about milt. But long familiarity with it and perennial observation of it have taught me that pig's milt is a weather prognosticator so infallible that, if folks only knew it, the Kentucky goose bone and the woodchuck burrow and the corn husk covering and the muskrat nest and all the rest of the old weather prophesying stand-bys would find their occupations gone. Infallible? Why, say! For forty years, whenever I kill my pigs in the fall, I have read the sign of the milt the very first thing, and then I know a thing or two. That's what I've done this fall. When I killed my pigs the other day I directed my attention as usual to a spot under the diaphragm of the most prognostic-looking pig I had, and removed the viscus from the left hypochondrium. Now, in going for the pig's milt in its unfailing capacity of weather prophet, let me tell you in passing, just notice if the big end of it, the small end of it, or the middle of it is bigger than by normal condition it ought to be. One or t'other of 'em is bound to be so.

"If it's the big end, get things ready for the coming in of an early winter, and a winter that'll make things crack. If it's the middle part that is exaggerated, you needn't count on having any fun skating or sleigh-riding with your girl not before the fog end of January.

"That's the way the pig's milt casts the meteorological horoscope. I have looked it over for this year, and I want to tell you that the small end of the milt has a nub on it bigger than a prize rutabaga. So you can keep right on wearing your last summer's clothes until almost time for Johnny jump-ups to push their noses up, and then you can tide over the weather that may drop down for a spell about then by taking the old ulster from the peg, for it'll be too late to buy any new winter clothes. Too late. No use at all.

"Yes, yes. Put your trust in the viscus situated in the left hypochondrium, under the diaphragm, and—do you follow me? See the cinch? In your mind's eye do you see the tailors and the clothiers on the run for head of column, next to reading matter, in your invaluable Trumpet Blast of Freedom?"

I tried to see it, but somehow my mind's vision seemed all blurred, and I told the pig's milt expert so.

"What!" he exclaimed. "Don't see how important it will be to tailors and clothiers to keep this quiet? Don't see how, if this should get out and abroad, the winter overcoat and the winter suit market would just go bang to smash, and ruin stare the tailors and the clothiers in the face? Why! Days alive, man! They'll pay to keep this dark! Go to 'em with it. Say to 'em, 'Here! Column ad, six months, full rate, or see this go in the paper! Come across! Will they come? Say! I wish I had time to handle this for you myself, but I haven't. I've got to get right back home. But don't laugh at me when I tell you that I will turn the whole cinch over to you for the ridiculous figure of two dollars, for I—"

Just then the office door opened and in came Snippers, the tailor, and Joback, the clothing store man.

"Put it in the Trumpet Blast locals this week," said Joback, coming straight to business, "that Snippers and Joback has jined stores and is goin' in as partners. And we want a two-column advertisement put in this week, sure. Two columns, and run 'em right along, for Joback & Snippers is jest goin' to boom things. Boom 'em heavy."

I looked around and saw the man with the pig's milt cinch going out of the door, and he looked so hurt that I felt sorry for him.

POLICE ESCORTS FOR FORT WORTH LADIES

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 8.—If there is a demand for it Police Chief Renfro will arrange to furnish police escorts to any lone woman who, lacking a husband, brother, father or male friend for an escort, may wish to attend the theatre this winter.

If the requests are reasonable and the supply of officers holds out the plan will be run as long as there is a demand to be met.

One of the detective office force, talking of the suggestion, said it would be cheaper and better than trying to run down the assailants of women who might go out unprotected at night. Some times such an assault takes the time of a half dozen detectives and other officers for a day or so, while the escort duty would merely require about two hours.

Police Commissioner Allen and Police Chief Renfro unite in the statement that there will be no more changes just at this time in the police force. The resignations were the night desk sergeant and two patrolmen. The head of the department declines to make any statements about the cause of the resignations and refers all inquirers to the men who are out. None of the men have applied for a hearing before the commission, and it is commonly accepted at the city hall that it is a closed incident.

To Owners of Real Estate In Pontotoc County

There are frequently found, upon examination, unknown and unsuspected clouds upon the title of real estate, such as unpaid taxes, uncancelled mortgages, mechanic liens, judgments, deeds of conveyances defective in signature, in acknowledgement or description, adverse claimants, errors made by conveyancing officers, and innumerable other defects, any of which may exist, all unsuspected by the owner, who fondly believes his title clear, but who really knows nothing about it, because he has never had an investigation made and an abstract of title prepared. Most of these clouds and defects could be cleared and cured were their existence known in time; but they lay dormant and are not discovered until the owner is rudely awakened from his fond dream of security by some progressive speculator or purchaser offering a good round price for his property, but demanding an abstract of title as the first condition of the sale.

Woman Drives Negro Away.

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 8.—Mrs. Selma Susak, a white woman, pluckily beat off a negro who tried to drag her from her horse and assault her, while she was riding along a lonely road near Oktaha, fifteen miles south of this city.

The negro, Jim Lovely, is in jail here. Mrs. Susak was riding alone when the negro stepped out from the roadside and grabbed the bridle with one hand and the woman with the other, and attempted to drag her from the saddle.

She carried a heavy quirt and with this beat the negro over the head so furiously that he let go and slunk away into the timber. He was arrested later and brought to Muskogee.

To the Public.

We have lately overhauled our mill and installed some new machinery including the latest up to date methods in modern milling which enables us to make the clearest flour that is possible to be made from wheat.

In order to introduce our new flour and convince you that there is no better made we will sell until further notice at $1.00 and $1.10 a sack.

Patronize Home Industries.

All things being equal people should patronize home industries thereby helping to build up your city and county.

But we don't want to take advantage of that fact in order to sell you inferior flour. Ada flour stands on its own merits and is second to none in the state. Remember that our mill pays taxes in your city and county.

So try our flour and if you like it continue to buy it thus helping to build up a home institution.

NOTICE

To Paying Tax Payers, 12th Street. Notice is hereby given that the second annual payment of the special assessment for paving portions of 12th street from Rennie Avenue to Stockton Avenue will be due and payable Sept. 1st, 1911, after which time a penalty of 18 per cent will be charged as the law directs. 106-2t W. Notice to the Citizens of Ada.

On the 25th day of January, 1910, the Council of the City of Ada, among other things, passed an ordinance requiring that every building within the sewer district where main or lateral sewers are provided for within 300 feet shall be connected therewith within ninety days after the completion and acceptance of such main or lateral in the street or alley abutting upon any lot occupied by a building.

Now, on account of the fact that the water supply of the City of Ada has been very limited for quite a lengthy period of time, no effort has been made to enforce said ordinance, but as we now have an abundance of water, all parties living in said City of Ada, are hereby notified that they must at the earliest practical time connect with such sewers as required by said ordinance.

The health of the city demands that you give this matter your prompt attention, and let there be no delay in attending to same.

Respectfully submitted,

S. E. CHAPMAN,
Mayor of the City of Ada

APPEARING OLD

Acts as a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old. In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible, one's youthful appearance.

It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxurious growth of hair.

The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use.

Herpicide makes an elegant hair dressing as well as Dandruff cure. Accept no substitute—there is none. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.
